UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

Federal Trade Commission, Plaintiff, vs. OTA Franchise Corporation, et al., Defendants.	Case No. 8:20-cv-00287 JVS (KESx) PROPOSED INTERVENORS NOTICE OF MOTION TO INTERVENE Hearing Date: _____ , 2020 Hearing Time: 1:30 p.m. Hearing Location: Courtroom 10C

TO ALL PARTIES AND COUNSEL OF RECORD:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on _____, at 1:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard, in the Courtroom of the Honorable James V. Selna, Courtroom 10C, United States District Court for the Central District of California, Ronald Reagan Federal Building and U.S. Courthouse, 411 West 4th Street, Santa Ana, CA 92701, Prospective Intervenors and Counterclaim-Plaintiffs Students of Online Trading Academy ("Intervenors") will and hereby do move for leave to intervene in the above captioned action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24 (the "Motion").

Intervenors seek to intervene in this action to enforce their contractual and constitutional rights which are being infringed by Plaintiff Federal Trade Commission (the "FTC") in bringing this action and restricting the operations of Online Trading Academy ("OTA"), the d/b/a of Defendants OTA Franchise Corporation, Newport Exchange Holdings, Inc., and NEH Services, Inc. The primary basis for Intervenors' Motion is that Intervenors propose to present a claim for declaratory judgment against the FTC to protect and enforce their contractual and Constitutional rights to receive the benefits and services they have feely and knowingly purchased from OTA. Intervenors' claim against the FTC for its wrongful attempt to deprive thousands of OTA students of their rights qualifies for intervention in this action as a matter of right pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2). In the alternative, Intervenors' claim qualifies for permissive intervention pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(b), as Intervenors' claim shares a common question of law and fact with the FTC's claims against Defendants in this action—specifically, the student Intervenors strenuously dispute FTC's assertion that OTA engages in deceptive practices such that OTA should be prevented from operating and providing its services to its students, including Intervenors.

This Motion is made following the conference of counsel pursuant to L.R. 7-3 which took place on May 20, 2020 in a conference call between Maurice Mitts (counsel for the Student Intervenors), Roberto Anguizola and Thomas Biesty (counsel for the FTC).

This Motion is based on this notice of motion, the accompanying memorandum of points and authorities, the exhibits thereto, all pleadings and papers on file in this action, and such further evidence and argument as may be presented at or before the hearing in this matter.

Respectfully submitted,

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

This Motion is brought by a group 3,802 students of Online Trading Academy ("OTA"),[1] who seek leave to intervene in this action to bring the attached Complaint in Intervention for, inter alia, Declaratory Judgment and equitable relief ("Intervenors' Complaint")[2] against Plaintiff Federal Trade Commission (the "FTC"). The students who bring this Motion ("Intervenors") have been harmed by the FTC's actions in bringing this lawsuit against OTA and restraining OTA's operations. Intervenors have rights to lifelong education and resources from OTA. Intervenors invested in their OTA training depending on continued access to this lifelong education, and have received, enjoyed, and benefited from that investment. They do not seek a refund. Now, though, the FTC wrongfully is depriving Intervenors of the fruits of their investment. If successful, the FTC will put OTA out of business and strip Intervenors and tens of thousands of other students of their investment in their lifelong trading education. Therefore, for the reasons set forth herein, Intervenors respectfully request to be granted leave to intervene as a matter of right pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2) or, alternatively, by permission pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(b)(1).

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The FTC brought this action against Defendants alleging that OTA has engaged in fraudulent or deceptive business practices directed at consumers. In these proceedings, the FTC obtained a Temporary Restraining Order (the "TRO") (Dkt. No. 46) and Preliminary Injunction (Dkt No. 130) against OTA. In seeking and obtaining the TRO and the Preliminary Injunction, the FTC silenced the voices of thousands of OTA students who value OTA's lifelong education for trading and investment strategies, and who have found those strategies to be effective. In earlier proceedings in this Court, 448 of those students submitted sworn declarations, and OTA presented the Court with evidence that over 9,000 students signed a petition indicating overwhelming support for OTA in connection with OTA's defense against the FTC's efforts. However, without any evidentiary hearing, this Court accepted the FTC's assertions that OTA had defrauded those very students. The students categorically dispute FTC's claims against OTA and assert that: 1) they have not been defrauded by OTA; and 2) the injunctions and related orders entered by the Court have impaired and now are on the brink of foreclosing their right to the education they purchased and their constitutional right to this educational exchange of information The TRO and the Preliminary Injunction have devastated OTA's students. One of the primary—if not the primary—benefit of OTA's education is OTA's lifelong access to continuing education for its students. OTA's students count on—and have taken advantage of—their right to take, and re-take, OTA courses, seminars, and view online programs for the rest of their lives at no additional cost after their initial tuition payment. OTA's students consider this right and benefit essential to managing their investments which, for many of them, involve their life savings. Contrary to the FTC's assertions in this action, OTA's programs are not "get rich quick" promises to its students. Intervenors know, and are prepared to present evidence to the Court, that OTA's curriculum teaches that trading in financial markets requires discipline, strategy, planning, and risk management—all of which Intervenors have learned from OTA, and which OTA disclosed to Intervenors from the start and throughout the education process.

Despite the enormous benefit and service Intervenors have received from their investment in OTA, the FTC has, thus far, left the Court with the impression that OTA has defrauded its students. The FTC has remained deaf to the students' pleas and its claims to this Court are demonstrably false. Intervenors are prepared, and have the right, to present to this Court their evidence that the FTC has misled the Court as to the nature of OTA's programs and as to the opinions and experiences of the students who have actually enrolled in those programs. The Preliminary Injunction has effectively shut down OTA's operations, depriving over 70,000 OTA students of their ongoing, lifelong access to OTA's educational programs—a benefit that OTA students expect, value, and paid for.

While OTA has mounted its own defense in this action, OTA itself does not directly speak for its students. Nor does the FTC. In fact, the FTC has suppressed the voices of OTA's students. On its "public" comment board regarding OTA, the FTC has posted only comments critical of OTA and has actively censored numerous student comments in support of OTA. For example, on March 1, 2020, one student attempted to post the following comment:

> I've read all the comments made on this thread so far. Questions I have for you are who appear to be failing on OTA strategy:
> (1) How much time did you spend educating yourself on OTA strategy & actually trying out the strategies? FYI, there are many instructors at OTA so maybe you haven't found instructors that work for you. I get up every morning to listen to 1 of the instructors, a session which is open to everybody who has signed up with OTA (not Master Mind). This is to get an idea of what the market looks like in each of the assets. Then I set my own trades using stop loss & target zones on just a few assets that I track every day. This was after I did @50 paper trades before I started trading for real. FYI, you can't try to trade too many assets, you gotta be good at just a few & it'll work for you.
> (2) Once you took the classes, did you turn in your paper trades into OTA's experts to review your trades with you before trading your real money? This is how you get better. You can't learn trading skills overnight. I spent my first 2-3 months going to classes learning all the assets I bought training on, talking/emailing instructors, being involved with local trading groups while doing paper trades every day. & consider the ability to take courses again whether in-person or online is unbelievable especially for those who don't have a great local center or live in an area not close to any center. I ask you again, how much time did you actually spend learning how to trade?
> I hope you'll re-consider your thoughts on OTA. I have been very successful sticking with my trade plan rules and the free daily reviews of trades suggested because they are conservative, less riskier trades following the patented CORE principles. Yes, they take more time to profit from because it takes a while for price to arrive at the selected demand/supply zones, but if you learned anything from OTA, you would have taken trade prices just above the specified Demand Zones or just below the specified Supply Zones before the money makers get into the market.

Thanks for reading....

This comment, however, was never posted on the FTC's comment site. Further, numerous other comments similarly reflect students' efforts to support OTA, only to be met with suppressive, boilerplate responses that the FTC's site "is a moderated blog," and that the FTC "review[s] all comments before they are posted."[3]

The FTC does not speak for the majority, or even a plurality, of OTA's students, and has fought against students' efforts to speak for themselves. Further, despite the efforts of OTA to bring the student perspective to this Court's attention in prior proceedings in this matter, the FTC opposed, and the Court has not considered that perspective and instead issued the TRO and the Preliminary Injunction without an evidentiary hearing or testimony from a single witness—and particularly, OTA's students. Accordingly, when OTA appealed the Preliminary Injunction to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, 1,398 students engaged counsel to submit an amicus brief in support of OTA and for reversal of the Preliminary Injunction.[4] Since filing the amicus brief in the Ninth Circuit, the number of students who support OTA and formally engaged counsel to participate in these proceedings to advocate for their continued access to OTA's education and resources has continued to rapidly grow—3,802 as of the filing of this motion. That number is expected to continue to grow larger.

As set forth in Intervenors' proposed Complaint in Intervention and amicus brief to the Ninth Circuit, the FTC does not in fact speak for, or protect, OTA students. To the contrary, the FTC's actions have directly impaired the rights of OTA's students, in particular the right to continued training and access to resources to allow OTA's students—the consumers that the FTC claims to protect—to continue navigating an uncertain investment market. Having been thus far silenced by the FTC, and the Court having failed to consider or even acknowledge the true experience of thousands of actual OTA students, the students of OTA now seek to intervene formally to advocate for their own rights before this Court.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a) provides that "[o]n timely motion, the court must permit anyone to intervene who: ... (2) claims an interest relating to the property or transaction that is the subject of the action, and is so situated that disposing of the action may as a practical matter impair or impede the movant's ability to protect its interest, unless existing parties adequately represent that interest." Thus, a movant is entitled to intervene as a matter of right when the movant demonstrates the following four elements: (1) the intervenor's motion is timely; (2) the intervenor has "a significantly protectable interest relating to ... the subject of the action," (3) the intervenor is "so situated that the disposition of the action may as a practical matter impair or impede the intervenor's ability to protect that interest"; and (4) the intervenor's interest is "inadequately represented by the parties to the action." Smith v. Los Angeles Unified Sch. Dist., 830 F.3d 843, 853 (9th Cir. 2016) (quoting Freedom from Religion Found., Inc. v. Geithner, 644 F.3d 836, 841 (9th Cir. 2011)) (internal quotations and alteration omitted). Although a proposed intervenor bears the burden of establishing these four elements, "the requirements for intervention are to be broadly interpreted in favor of intervention." Id. (quoting United States v. Alisal Water Corp., 370 F.3d 915, 919 (9th Cir. 2004)) (alteration omitted).

Alternatively, even if the Court is not persuaded that the OTA students are entitled to intervene as a matter of right, permissive intervention is allowed where the movant "has a claim or defense that shares with the main action a common question of law or fact." Fed. R. Civ. P. 24(b)(1)(B). A movant seeking permissive intervention under Rule 24(b) "need only satisfy two threshold requirements: (1) the prospective intervenor's motion to intervene is timely, and (2) the prospective intervenor has claims or defenses that share a common question of law or fact with the main action." McIver v. KW Real Estate/Akron Co., LLC, 2016 WL 8230634, at *2 (C.D. Cal. June 15, 2016) (Selna, J.).

ARGUMENT

Intervenors satisfy the criteria to intervene as a matter of right pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2), and certainly those for permissive intervention. One way or the other, the Court should not remain blind to the interests of the very students whose rights are being asserted—falsely— by the FTC. The court should grant the motion to intervene and permit the students to assert their rights, which are being substantially impaired by the FTC's case against OTA in this action.

I. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2) Grants Intervenors the Right to Intervene in this Action.

As noted above, there are four elements to intervention as of right under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2): timeliness, protectable interest, practical impairment, and inadequate representation. Intervenors satisfy each of these elements.

A. Intervenors' motion to intervene is timely.

First, as to the timeliness of a motion to intervene, "[t]imeliness is determined by the totality of the circumstances facing would-be intervenors," taking into account the stage of the proceedings, the prejudice to other parties, and the reason for and length of the delay before seeking intervention. Smith, 830 F.3d at 854. In this case, the stage of these proceedings is at a crucial inflection point where Intervenors have an urgent need and a right to be heard. Although these proceeding only commenced February 12, 2020, there have already been numerous motions and applications brought before the Court, and decisions by the Court, including the TRO and the recent Preliminary Injunction, which have negatively affected the rights of OTA's students, all without Intervenors' interests and perspective being adequately represented by the parties or considered by the Court. Now, the Court is considering whether to impose a receiver to "preserve" the assets of OTA (see Dkt. No. 215)— essentially, whether to shut down OTA to the extent the Preliminary Injunction has not already done so—once again, without OTA's students' perspective and appropriate evidence of the prejudice to be the students (the supposed victims) being considered.

Further, no party will be prejudiced by Intervenors' participation in this case. The only prejudice that is relevant to this inquiry "is that which flows from a prospective intervenor's failure to intervene after he knew, or reasonably should have known, that his interests were not being adequately represented ...." Smith, 830 F.3d at 857. As noted above, Intervenors organized themselves and promptly joined this matter as amici in the Ninth Circuit, and now promptly seek leave to intervene and present their case before this Court. No party can therefore complain of prejudice when Intervenors' participation is indisputably timely. Moreover, even considering "prejudice" in the colloquial sense, the FTC has represented to the Court that it has brought this action and sought the TRO and Preliminary Injunction "[t]o protect consumers." (See, e.g., Dkt. No. 74, at 1.[5]) The FTC therefore cannot be prejudiced by this Court considering the perspective of those very consumers regarding OTA's conduct, as well as the effect of these proceedings on those consumers, when the FTC asserts its claims are ostensibly based on an interest in protecting the consumers. Nor would OTA be prejudiced by Intervenors' involvement in this case, as Intervenors strenuously oppose the relief sought by the FTC against OTA, albeit for independent reasons and interests of their own.

Finally, Intervenors have not delayed in seeking the right to intervene. Until issuance of the TRO and Preliminary Injunction, Intervenors had no basis upon which to participate in this action, as Intervenors had not been affected by the FTC's investigation of OTA. At this juncture, however, Intervenors' rights have been, continue to be, and may be permanently lost because of the FTC's actions.

[5] "To protect consumers ... the FTC respectfully requests that the Court issue the proposed preliminary injunction (Dkt. 72) ('PI') barring Defendants' unlawful misrepresentations, freezing their assets, and appointing a receiver over the Corporate Defendants." (Emphasis added.)

Intervenors organized themselves as reasonably promptly and quickly as possible given the vast number of OTA students and the coast-to-coast geographic spread of the students, both to file an amicus brief in this matter in the Ninth Circuit and now to participate in the proceedings in this Court before further harm is done to their rights and interests.

Accordingly, Intervenors' motion is timely.

B. Intervenors have a protectable interest and would suffer practical impairment of that interest.

A proposed intervenor has a protectable interest sufficient for intervention if "the interest is protectable under some law" and "there is a relationship between the legally protected interest and the claims at issue." Wilderness Soc'y v. U.S. Forest Serv., 630 F.3d 1173, 1180 (9th Cir. 2011) (internal quotations omitted). Put simply, "a party has a sufficient interest for intervention purposes if it will suffer a practical impairment of its interests as a result of the pending litigation." Cal. ex rel Lockyear v. United States, 450 F.3d 436, 441 (9th Cir. 2006). Thus, the question of whether proposed intervenors have a protectable interest is intertwined with the third element of the mandatory intervention analysis: whether the proposed intervenors would suffer a practical impairment of their interests. Here, Intervenors indisputably have a protectable interest that would be impaired if they are not permitted to intervene.

As set forth in OTA Students' amicus brief to the Ninth Circuit in this matter, Intervenors have paid for certain rights and benefits from OTA, including lifelong access to OTA's educational programs and training. As Intervenors put it to the Ninth Circuit:

> Amici are a group of OTA students whose education has been interrupted at a critical time by the district court's preliminary injunction. In this volatile market, buffeted by unexpected and unusual forces, Amici are particularly aggrieved by their inability to take advantage of the very useful instruction, which is guaranteed to them for life by OTA, and by the prospect that they may lose it altogether. Many of the Amici have substantial investments in the market and are fearful that their savings will be dissipated if they cannot use the investment tools and guidance that OTA has provided them in the past and on which they had been relying in planning their future.

(Exhibit B at 16.) Intervenors have a protectable interest in the property or transaction—i.e., their purchases of lifelong financial market trading education from OTA—which would suffer, and indeed already has suffered, devastating impairment as a result of this pending litigation and the orders obtained by the FTC. Intervenors have been unconstitutionally deprived of access to the education and resources they paid as a result of the TRO and Preliminary Injunction and will suffer permanent and irreparable injury if the FTC succeeds in expanding the devastating impact of the preliminary injunction through a receivership that would permanently shutter OTA.

Accordingly, Intervenors satisfy the second and third elements for intervention as of right: protectable contractual and constitutional interest and practical impairment.

C. Intervenors' interests are not adequately represented by the parties.

Finally, Intervenors are entitled to intervene in this action as a matter of right because their interests are not adequately represented by the parties. This final element requires only a minimal showing that the existing parties' representation may be inadequate. Smith, 830 F.3d at 864 (citing Trbovich v. United Mine Workers ofAm., 404 U.S. 528, 538 n.10 (1972)). Here, both the FTC and OTA itself do not adequately represents Intervenors' interest. The FTC is plainly not representing Intervenors' interests and is in fact working against the interests of Intervenors—the very consumers it purports to seek to protect. As detailed above, the FTC has misled this Court about the perspective and experience of OTA students, has taken actions to block the overwhelming favorable student evidence from ever reaching this Court and, therefore, Intervenors must present the Court with that evidence for themselves.

Although Intervenors support OTA in this action, OTA does not itself adequately represent Intervenors' interests. While OTA and Intervenors may be aligned as to the outcome of this litigation that they seek—the continuation of OTA's educational programs—they have independent interests and reasons for doing so. Intervenors seek the continuation of OTA's enterprise so that they can continue to receive products and services for which they have paid and to which they are entitled on a lifelong basis, regardless of any business or profit interest of OTA. Further, with due respect to counsel for OTA and to the Court, OTA's representation of Intervenors' interests has been shown already to be inadequate because the Court declined even to consider the 448 declarations and the names and the compelling statements of over 9,000 petitioning students submitted by OTA in opposition to the TRO and Preliminary Injunction. Whether because of doubts as to OTA's credibility or otherwise, the Court has thus far shown no awareness of the interests of OTA's students when presented by OTA. Therefore, OTA inadequately represents Intervenors' interest and Intervenors must be afforded the opportunity to present their case to the Court for themselves.

The final element of intervention as a matter of right is therefore satisfied. Accordingly, the Court should grant this motion and allow Intervenors to intervene in this action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2).

II. Alternatively, the Court Should Permit Intervenors to Intervene Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(b).

In the event that the Court does not grant Intervenors' motion to intervene in this action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2), it should nonetheless permit Intervenors to intervene pursuant to Rule 24(b). In the case of permissive intervention, a movant need only demonstrate timeliness and that they have claims or defenses that share a common question of law or fact with the main action. McIver, 2016 WL 8230634, at *2. Here, Intervenors' motion is timely for the reasons discussed in Argument section I.A, above. Further, Intervenors' claim against the FTC as set forth in the accompanying Complaint plainly shares common questions of law and fact with the FTC's claims against OTA—namely, whether OTA has engaged in fraudulent or deceptive conduct that warrants relief that would effectively put OTA out of operation and deny Intervenors and tens of thousands of other OTA students access to the benefits of further training and resources. Intervenors' claims are based on the reality that OTA has not deceived or misled its students, that the students have received and wish to continue to receive exactly what they expected and paid for, and that OTA should be able to continue operating without the FTC's intrusion. These rights are highly valued by the OTA students, are based on contract and constitutional right, and are at the heart of these proceedings.

As such, even if Intervenors did not qualify for intervention as of right under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24(a)(2) (which they do), the Court should permit them to intervene pursuant to Rule 24(b).

CONCLUSION

For the reasons discussed above, the Court should grant this motion and allow Intervenors to intervene in this action and deem the attached Complaint in Intervention by OTA's students against the FTC to be filed as of the granting of such motion.

EXHIBIT A

Intervenors' Complaint in Intervention

CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

Laura Owen, Wayne Coltrane, Michael Yanoschak, and Paul Walker, on behalf of themselves and others similarly situated, Plaintiffs - Intervenors, vs. Federal Trade Commission, Defendant.	Case No. 8:20-cv-00287 JVS (KESx) INTERVENORS CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT IN INTERVENTION FOR DECLARATORY JUDGMENT

Plaintiffs Laura Owen, Wayne Coltrane, Michael Yanoschak, and Paul Walker, and the 3,802 OTA students named in Exhibit A[1], ("Plaintiffs"), on behalf of themselves and others similarly situated and as intervenors, bring this Complaint in Intervention for Declaratory Judgment Relief on their own behalf and as representatives for the class of OTA students against Defendant Federal Trade Commission ("the FTC") seeking a declaration that Plaintiffs' contractual agreements with Online Trading Academy ("OTA") are legally valid, binding, and enforceable, and that Plaintiffs are entitled to and will receive the benefits and services from OTA to which they are entitled without interference from the FTC.

The Parties

1. Plaintiff Laura Owen is an adult individual and a citizen of Kansas, residing at 27085 West 102nd Street, Olathe, KS 66061.

2. Plaintiff Owen is, among other things, a former Secretary of Commerce of the State of Kansas, an entrepreneur, a holder of Series 7 and 63 securities licenses, and a certified financial planner (CFP).

3. Plaintiff Owen is also an experienced options trader, having traded in options consistently for approximately 40 years.

[1] Do to the enormous number of students appearing on exhibit A (3,802 students) who are plaintiffs in this action, their names have been listed in this exhibit so as not to add a multiplicy of pages of party plaintiffs to this

4. Plaintiff Owen enrolled in OTA classes beginning January 3, 2018, and has consistently taken and retaken various OTA classes numerous times from then until the FTC effectively shut down OTA's operations as described below.

5. Plaintiff Wayne Coltrane is an adult individual and a citizen of Texas, residing at 6904 Wesson Drive, Plano, TX 75023.

6. Plaintiff Coltrane is a retired real estate appraiser, and spent much of his career working in and for financial institutions, reviewing appraisals to determine their accuracy, and make risk assessments based on the appraisals before commitments were made for loans.

7. Plaintiff Coltrane first enrolled in OTA classes in the fall of 2007, and spent a short period of time thereafter trading before returning to full-time work as an appraiser.

8. Following Plaintiff Coltrane's retirement in August 2018, Plaintiff Coltrane returned to OTA and retook several OTA courses at no additional cost.

9. Like Plaintiff Owen, Plaintiff Coltrane also continued to take OTA courses from the time he returned to OTA until the FTC effectively shut down OTA.

10. Plaintiff Michael Yanoschak is an adult individual and a citizen of California.

11. Plaintiff Yanoschak worked in the mortgage industry for approximately 25 years, as an independent broker and for Wells Fargo.

12. Plaintiff Yanoschak first enrolled in OTA classes in November of 2013, and by January of 2015, had resigned from Wells Fargo and began trading full-time, which he has done successfully using OTA's methodologies since then up until and including the present.

13. Like the other Plaintiffs, Plaintiff Yanoschak has continued to take OTA classes at no additional cost since his initial enrollment.

14. Plaintiff Paul Walker is an adult individual and a citizen of Georgia, residing at 5325 Camden Lake Drive NW, Acworth, GA 30101.

15. Plaintiff Walker is a retired owner of a child care center.

16. Plaintiff Walker is 49 years old.

17. Plaintiff Walker first enrolled as a student with OTA in December 2018.

18. Based on OTA's training, Plaintiff Walker is currently engaged in active trading in various stocks and options markets, and is making a profit of approximately $500 to $1,000 per day on average.

19. Plaintiff Walker has continued to take OTA classes at no additional cost since his initial enrollment, up to and until the FTC effectively shut down OTA's operations.

21. Defendant the FTC is, upon information and belief, an agency of the United States government headquartered at 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580, and with a regional office at 10990 Wilshire Boulevard, Suite 400, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

Jurisdiction and Venue

22. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 702 and 28 U.S.C. § 1331.

23. This Court is empowered to decide the claim set forth herein pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2201.

24. Venue is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2), as Counterclaim-Plaintiffs' claim herein arises from the FTC bringing a related action against OTA in this Court and seeking relief from this Court which has interfered with Plaintiffs' receipt of the benefits of their contractual relationships with OTA.

Factual Background

25. On or about February 12, 2020, the FTC initiated this action.

26. In this action, the FTC has falsely claimed that OTA[2] engages or has engaged in false and deceptive marketing practices, including misrepresenting the results an OTA education can generate for its students.

27. In this action, the FTC applied for, and has obtained, a Preliminary Injunction which greatly restricts OTA's activities and operations, which directly affects OTA's students, including Plaintiffs.

28. As noted above, each of Plaintiffs is a student and customer of OTA.

29. Each of Plaintiffs has utilized OTA's courses and services and benefitted therefrom.

30. In Plaintiffs' experience, OTA has been an honest and professional educator and service provider in the area of education regarding trading in various financial markets.

31. None of Plaintiffs—nor, upon information and belief, any of OTA's thousands of other students, past and present—experienced any deception on the part of OTA in connection with OTA's advertising or marketing of its courses, nor in any promises by OTA of specific results that would be achieved from the application of OTA's strategies or methodologies.

[2]As used herein, "OTA" refers to any or all of the corporate defendants in the FTC Action with whom Plaintiffs have contractual agreements for OTA's services.

32. The FTC has alleged in this action that OTA has taken advantage of older and/or uneducated individuals and attempted to deceptively lure customers with "get rich quick" promises.

33. The FTC's allegations in this action are false.

34. Each of Plaintiffs in this action is an intelligent, many are accomplished professionals, and not an easily deceived senior citizen or uneducated individual.

35. Plaintiffs have experienced firsthand OTA's training and OTA's disclosure of the risks associated with trading in stocks, options, futures, and currency.

36. OTA never promised Plaintiffs or, upon information and belief, any other OTA students that they would "get rich quick" from trading.

37. To the contrary, while trading in the markets is simple, it is not easy -- time and effort is required to develop the skills necessary to effectively and profitably trade with consistency.

38. The time and effort required to trade successfully was fully disclosed and is consistently reinforced by OTA in all of its programs.

39. The time and effort required to trade successfully is also what makes OTA's lifetime commitment to its students so valuable, as continued training is necessary to develop and maintain the skills necessary to become a successful trader.

40. Over 9,000 OTA students have signed a petition in support of OTA and which fundamentally challenges the accuracy of the FTC's allegations in this case.

41. In addition to this pleading, 488 OTA students submitted sworn declarations in support of OTA which were previously filed in this action, confirming that these OTA students have not been misled by OTA and have in fact received from OTA valuable training and services as promised by OTA.

42. Among the benefits each of the Plaintiffs paid for, expected, and have been receiving from OTA is consistent, ongoing training and support, and lifelong access to OTA's in-person and online courses and training materials for supplemental or "refresher" training even after completion of their initial courses. Until the FTC's interference with this education, OTA's students not only received continuing access to this education with no additional cost, but further, OTA provided all enhancements and innovations to these programs to its students for free no matter when the students took the earlier versions of those programs.

43. As noted above, each of Plaintiffs has taken advantage of—and desires to continue taking advantage of—supplemental or "refresher" training from OTA after completing their initial courses, at no additional cost. There are countless similar examples of OTA students taking advantage of this benefit of OTA's services.

44. The list of 3,802 OTA students (who engaged counsel to intervene in this lawsuit and to bring this complaint to protect their interest to the education they purchased and their constitutional right to this protected educational speech), is compelling evidence that the FTC does not speak for the OTA students, and that contrary to the FTC's "we know better" approach – the educated adults harmed by the FTC's interference with their education want their education restored to the invaluable status it had before the FTC started this lawsuit.

45. Since the filing of this action by the FTC, the 3,802 Plaintiffs and thousands of other OTA students, have been deprived of the benefits of their status as students of OTA and pursuant to their contractual agreements with OTA.

46. The FTC actions in bringing this action and seeking and obtaining restraints on OTA's operations has effectively shut OTA down, depriving Plaintiffs and their fellow students of the opportunity to continue taking and benefiting from OTA classes and invaluable education.

47. The FTC's actions in bringing this lawsuit and obtaining restraints on OTA's operations infringe upon Plaintiffs' rights, including, inter alia, their right to free association and/or assembly under the First Amendment of the United States Constitution, and their right to contract.

48. As a result of the FTC's actions, Plaintiffs and thousands of other OTA students are being and will continue to be deprived of the benefits of their relationship and association with OTA.

Class Allegations

49. This action is brought as a putative class actions pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

50. Upon information and belief, tens of thousands of OTA students have been, are being, and will be harmed by the FTC's actions against OTA by having their rights and privileges to receive the educational services which they purchased from OTA interfered with, if not outright blocked, by the FTC.

51. 488 OTA students submitted declarations which were filed in this action by OTA in opposition to the FTC's request for a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction.

52. In addition, over 9,000 OTA students have signed a petition in support of OTA and against the FTC's overreach against OTA.

53. The proposed class in this action is composed of those thousands of OTA students whose rights are being impinged by the FTC. Paragraph 20 of this complaint lists the names of 3,802 OTA students who seek to intervene in this lawsuit and to have party status in order to protect their contracts to the OTA education and their constitutional rights to that curriculum and the free exchanges of information and ideas.

54. The proposed class is so numerous that joinder of each individual OTA student to this action would be impracticable.

55. The questions of law and/or fact brought before the Court in this action are common to Plaintiffs and all members of the proposed class, and Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the class.

56. Specifically, Plaintiffs seek from the Court: a) a declaration that OTA's students are entitled to continue receiving the benefits of their contracts and relations with OTA free from interference by the FTC; b) that the preliminary injunction entered against OTA be vacated; and c) that OTA be allowed to resume it entire educational curriculum without interference or censorship by the FTC.

57. Plaintiffs' and the proposed class's claims involve the common question of law and/or fact as to whether all parties' respective contracts and agreements with OTA are valid and enforceable, and that Plaintiffs and the proposed class are therefore entitled to receive their benefits, including lifelong access to ongoing and "refresher" courses and other training and education from OTA. The related constitutional rights of the Plaintiffs' and the proposed class are also common questions of law and/or fact in this matter.

58. Plaintiffs will adequately protect and represent the interests of all members of the proposed class and will vigorously pursue a judgment for the benefit of all members of the proposed class.

59. The FTC has acted in a manner that applies generally to the entire proposed class, such that appropriate injunctive and/or declaratory relief is necessary regarding the class as a whole.

60. Specifically, the FTC's actions against OTA threaten all OTA students (i.e., Plaintiffs and all other members of the proposed class) equally and in the same manner, in that the FTC is attempting to interfere with or block all OTA students from receiving the ongoing education and benefits for which all OTA students have paid and which all OTA students have a right to receive.

61. Additionally, and/or in the alternative, the questions of law or fact common to class members predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and a class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently adjudicating the instant controversy.

Count I – Declaratory Judgment

62. Plaintiffs hereby incorporate the foregoing allegations of this Complaint as if set forth fully herein.

63. Section 702 of Title 5, United States Code, provides, in relevant part: "A person suffering legal wrong because of agency action, or adversely affected or aggrieved by agency action … is entitled to judicial review thereof. An action in a court of the United States seeking relief other than money damages and stating a claim that an agency or an officer or employee thereof acted or failed to act in an official capacity or under color of legal authority shall not be dismissed nor relief therein be denied on the ground that it is against the United States or that the United States is an indispensable party. The United States may be named as a defendant in any such action, and a judgment or decree may be entered against the United States …."

64. The Declaratory Judgment Act provides, in relevant part: "In a case of actual controversy within its jurisdiction … any court of the United States, upon the filing of an appropriate pleading, may declare the rights and other legal relations of any interested party seeking such declaration, whether or not further relief is or could be sought." 28 U.S.C. § 2201(a).

65. By bringing this action and interfering with OTA's operations so substantially, the FTC, acting under color of its governmental authority, has deprived Plaintiffs, and all of OTA's other students, of the benefits to which they are entitled by virtue of their contracts and relationships with OTA as well as under the First Amendment to the United States Constitution.

66. The FTC's acts have violated Plaintiffs' Constitutional and other rights, including their right to associate and/or assemble (with OTA, its instructors, and their fellow students) and their right to contract and to receive the benefits of their contracts with OTA.

67. In essence, the FTC in this action seeks to invalidate Plaintiffs' and other OTA students' contracts with OTA, depriving them of their benefits without either due process or compensation.

68. Plaintiffs herein seek a declaration of their rights as to their contractual relations with OTA—specifically, that their contracts are valid, binding, and enforceable, and that Counterclaim-Plaintiffs are entitled to receive the benefits thereof—specifically including, but not limited to, the right to receive continuing supplemental and "refresher" training from OTA, whether in-person or online.

69. In furtherance of the relief sought herein, Plaintiffs ask the Court to dissolve the existing preliminary injunction and/or enjoin the FTC from taking any act which would interfere with or deprive Plaintiffs of the benefits of their contracts and relations with OTA and/or otherwise infringe upon Plaintiffs' Constitutional and other rights.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs Laura Owen, Wayne Coltrane, Michael Yanoschak, and Paul Walker and the other 3,802 students, for themselves and others similarly situated, respectfully request that this Honorable Court enter judgment in their favor and against Defendant Federal Trade Commission: (1) declaring that Plaintiffs' contracts with OTA are valid, binding, and enforceable; (2) dissolving the existing preliminary injunction in this matter and/or enjoining the Federal Trade Commission from taking any acts which would infringe upon Plaintiffs' rights, including, inter alia, their rights to receive the benefits of their contracts with OTA; and (3) awarding such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

AMICI CURIAE* 1,398 STUDENT AMICI'S MOTION TO EXCEED TYPE-VOLUME LIMITATION

Pursuant to Ninth Circuit Rule 32-2, Amici Curiae 1,398 Student Amici, by their undersigned counsel, respectfully move this Court for permission to exceed the type-volume limitations under Fed. R. App. P. 29(a)(5) and Ninth Circuit Rule 32-1(a). The reasons for this request are set forth in the attached declaration. The 1,398 Student Amici's proposed amicus brief is attached with the appropriate word count certification as required by Ninth Circuit Rule 32-1.

IN THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE NINTH CIRCUIT

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION,

Plaintiff-Appellee,

v.

OTA FRANCHISE CORPORATION ET AL.
Defendants-Appellants.

DECLARATION OF COUNSEL

In support of the 1,398 Student Amici's motion to exceed the type-volume limitation in the Amici's brief in support of Defendants-Appellants and in favor of reversal, I declare:

1. Pursuant to Fed. R. App. P. 29(a)(6), the Student Amici's brief in support of Defendants-Appellants and in favor of reversal is to be filed May 8, 2020.

2. The Student Amici include 1,398 individual students of Online Trading Academy ("OTA") who support OTA in this appeal as more fully set forth in their brief.

3. Pursuant to Fed. R. App. P. 29(a)(5) and Ninth Circuit Rule 32-1(a), the Student Amici's brief should not exceed 7,000 words.

4. Because the sheer number of Student Amici in this case, simply disclosing the names and interest of the Student Amici requires 4,261 words of the 7000-word limit.

5. Counsel has endeavored to make its arguments on behalf of the Student Amici thoroughly, but succinctly, in the accompanying brief.

6. But for the volume of Student Amici names to be identified, the Student Amici's brief would easily comply with the type-volume limitations under Fed. R. App. P. 29(a)(5) and Ninth Circuit Rule 32-1(a).

7. The Student Amici, through undersigned counsel, therefor respectfully request that this Court accept the accompanying brief in excess of the type-volume limitations to allow full consideration of the Student Amici's interest in this pending appeal.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on May 8, 2020.

STATEMENT PURSUANT TO FED. R. APP. P. 29(a)(4)(E)

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 29(a)(4)(E), the OTA Student Amici state: (i) no party's counsel authored this Brief, in whole or in part; (ii) no party or party's counsel contributed money that was intended to fund preparing or submitting this Brief; and (iii) no person other than the OTA Student Amici, its members, or its counsel contributed money that was intended to fund preparing or submitting this Brief.

FTC consents to the filing of this amicus brief with the following disclosures: Undersigned counsel represented OTA before the issuance of the preliminary injunction and received a $30,000 retainer before that injunction. All of those funds are in an attorney trust account and none of that money has been or will be used to pay for this amicus brief. The student amici are not employees or franchisees of OTA and are not receiving any financial benefit or discount from OTA for filing this brief. The only fee agreement for this brief is between undersigned counsel and the 1398 Student Amici. Appellants also consent.

SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

The Student Amici's First Amendment rights to the education they purchased from OTA have been devastated by the preliminary injunction that shut down OTA's classrooms, censored the content of its instruction and stripped OTA of the ability to pay its instructors. The Student Amici provided the district court with 448 declarations, ER 00379 ¶ 8, 00382–931, 001131–1630, 001862–2297, and over 9000 petition signatures, ER 000377–378 ¶¶ 5–7, 000936–1130, disputing the supposed consumer fraud asserted by the FTC and motivating the preliminary injunction. The district court never even acknowledged, much less considered, these submission and refused requests for an evidentiary hearing to allow OTA and the Student Amici the opportunity to challenge the FTC's assertions by educating the district court that they were not deceived by OTA, that OTA's education is highly regarded and effective, that the life-long learning is invaluable to the Student Amici, and that the FTC's injunction has caused massive harm and is on the verge of causing irreparable harm to the students that the FTC claims to protect.

The district court would not have issued its sweeping injunction had it taken the time to learn that OTA's promotional programs (spanning over three days of instruction) are replete with so much substantive content that they can only be classified as fully-protected speech, not commercial speech. The First Amendment protects Amici's right to learn and it is therefore unconstitutional to shut down an educational institution based on the FTC's mere assertion that OTA's pedagogy is useless. If the government may ever shut down a school because it disagrees with the school's academic program, it may only do so after a trial and findings based on evidence, not mere suppositions. Any injunction that is issued without such findings is censorship of the type long-condemned by American courts. At a time when our civil liberties are being abridged on all fronts, Amici ask this Honorable Court to state clearly that the right to speak and the right to learn, both of which are protected by the First Amendment, remain unimpaired.

ARGUMENT

I. THE FTC'S SUIT AGAINST OTA AND THE PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION'S CENSORSHIP OF OTA'S PROGRAMS ARE PREMISED ON THE FALSE NOTION THAT OTA'S STUDENTS HAVE BEEN DEFRAUDED.

The essence of the FTC's position is that all of OTA's 70,000 students over its 22 years of existence have been defrauded. FTC assumes deception because it does not believe that OTA's programs enable students to better understand the various investment markets, and the risks and opportunities presented by a systematic study and approach to those markets. The experience of tens of thousands of OTA students who deeply value OTA's curriculum and its lifelong learning stands in stark contrast to the FTC's view of this education. 448 of those students provided declarations to the district court and over 9000 students signed petitions refuting the FTC's accusations by verifying the absence of any deception and the value of OTA's courses. ER 00377–79 ¶¶ 5–8, 00382–931, 000936–1630, 001862–2297. An evidentiary hearing would have provided the district court with an opportunity to test the assumptions underlying the FTC's accusations and to reckon with the overwhelming contrary evidence and with the constitutional gravity of the relief the FTC sought.

The district court's injunction was regrettably uninformed because the court deprived itself of the chance to hear witnesses, both lay and expert, and to make findings based on actual evidence rather than the FTC's highly selective paper submissions. Because the FTC's injunction seeks to bar education, the most sacred of protections enshrined in the First Amendment, and is the product of untested accusations, the jurisprudence of this Court and Supreme Court requires that the preliminary injunction be vacated. OTA's opening brief provides this Court with all of the controlling precedents and discusses why the lower court committed constitutional error. This Student Amici brief is submitted to provide this Court with a direct response from the actual consumers–the OTA students—who categorically dispute the accusations made by FTC in its complaint that regrettably have become embedded in the preliminary injunction, without the chance for a single lay or expert witness to speak.

A. The Student Amici value OTA's education, particularly the lifelong learning, and are being denied their constitutional and contractual rights to that education.

Amici are a group of OTA students whose education has been interrupted at a critical time by the district court's preliminary injunction. In this volatile market, buffeted by unexpected and unusual forces, Amici are particularly aggrieved by their inability to take advantage of the very useful instruction, which is guaranteed to them for life by OTA, and by the prospect that they may lose it altogether. Many of the Amici have substantial investments in the market and are fearful that their savings will be dissipated if they cannot use the investment tools and guidance that OTA has provided them in the past and on which they had been relying in planning their future.

Amici are actively involved in trading with OTA's help. Amici find this help useful, indeed invaluable, in navigating treacherous financial markets and overcoming the disadvantages that small investors have vis-à-vis much more experienced institutional investors. OTA has given Amici the tools and knowledge to trade on an even playing field.

Each of the Amici has participated in the Academy's Preview Event and MTO Course—a full 27 hours of instruction—before investing substantial sums in further courses, and each has made an individual decision that the further education was well worth the cost. Amici did not feel pressured or deceived in deciding to take further courses. Amici did not have the impression that they could make easy money with no risk; they read and understood the written and oral warnings disclosing very clearly that investing in markets carries substantial risks, that wise investing requires time and effort, and that market losses are an inevitable part of investing. Amici believe they made the right decision. They are willing to take those risks and spend that effort, if they are able to avail themselves of the financial tools and guidance which OTA has guaranteed will be available to them for life. Amici have planned their financial future based on the belief that the Academy will continue to provide them this assistance. The preliminary injunction threatens the loss of these services, which would cause Amici irreparable harm.

Amici are intelligent adults who are able to read and understand English. Many are professionals or businesspeople with substantial accomplishments in their careers. All were aware of the difficulty of making money by investing in the market, which is what attracted them to OTA. Many among Amici came to OTA because they have friends or relatives who are familiar with the Academy and have recommended it.

Amici fully understand the difference between an actual market transaction and the hypothetical transactions used by OTA instructors to illustrate concepts they are being taught. Amici do not believe that actual market trading will always conform to the hypothetical trades illustrated by OTA instructors. But Amici believe that it is impossible to learn the sophisticated market concepts they are learning from OTA without hypothetical illustrations, any more than it would be possible to learn chemistry without conducting laboratory experiments or medicine without dissecting cadavers.

Amici are aware that the Federal Trade Commission has brought this lawsuit pursuant to its authority to enforce Section 4 of the Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a), which prohibits "unfair or deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce." The FTC claims that OTA engages in such practices, but it is mistaken. Having spent, collectively, tens of thousands of hours taking OTA courses, Amici have witnessed no such behavior on the part of OTA or its instructors. Nor have they heard any such complaints from other students. OTA's philosophy, as observed by Amici, is precisely the opposite: OTA presents the benefits of market trading, as well as disclosing the risks, and gives students the knowledge and tools to develop at their own pace. OTA stresses that one must take the time and put in the effort to learn and apply its principles effectively. The ability to take courses over and over again without additional charge, which is now impaired by the FTC's lawsuit and the district court's injunction, is an important and paid-for benefit of OTA's instruction. Examples of just a few telling statements from the students' declarations are spotlighted for the Court:

L *[1]: Former Secretary of Commerce for the State of Kansas. ER 001873–74.

- ¶3: I attended OTA's half-day workshop on August 6, 2014 at [location excluded]. I liked what OTA had to offer but I wasn't able to commit the time it would take to be successful. I did know that this was something I want to do eventually.

- ¶5: I attended Core Strategy beginning January 6, 2018 at the Kansas City Center. The instructor was Tillie Allison.

- ¶6: Core Strategy was outstanding and Tillie was amazing. She was very clear, and it was obvious she cared deeply about the students. She was willing to stay through every break to answer questions and offered to help me with any roadblock I came across. She was always happy to meet with me and was very patient.

- ¶8: OTA is very transparent. If someone isn't successful and they are honest with themselves, it's usually because they didn't take the time and make the commitment. It's not OTA's fault. It's like joining a gym to get in shape: if you stop going after a couple workouts, you're not going to lose weight. OTA gives you the opportunity to be successful, but it takes time and a commitment to learn the game. If you apply yourself, you will be successful and I am living proof of that.

- ¶17: I am a successful trader. I know that by looking at the numbers, I still make plenty despite some stupid trades. When I lose money, it's because my set-up didn't work, and that's on me.

[1] The actual names of the quoted students appear in the ER as cited but are obscured to protect privacy.

- ¶18: I live in an estate home and pay 100% of the household bills with the money I make from trading. I withdraw $7,500 monthly from the profits in my Roth IRA to pay bills.

- ¶21: OTA provides you with a life-changing opportunity, but like anything in life that's worthwhile, it takes hard work and personal commitment.

T *: Former Field Engineer for Kodak. ER 002120–24.

- ¶5: Let me tell you, if you use the OTA methodology and chart out this stuff, it works. It actually works. I'm very happy because even though I made money in the markets before coming to OTA, I made a lot more money after taking my courses at OTA.

- ¶9: Before joining OTA in 2017, our portfolio was worth approximately $700,000, I was only trading mutual funds and stocks at that time. Since joining OTA, I learned about trading ETFs, which I am trading successfully and our portfolio is now worth over $1,000,000. My goal is to reach $1,300,000 this year. I think OTA really helped us.

- ¶17: I have gotten my money's worth out of my OTA education and then some. I paid for MasterMind for me and my wife. I made $300,000 in my first year after joining OTA, so I'd say that definitely more than covers the cost of my education. There's still more to learn and I am going to be using my XLTs online. Practice makes perfect with this. I tell people that if they don't have the time to spend learning this, then they are better off just hiring someone to manage their portfolio for them. But if you want to do it yourself, and you can invest the time in learning how to do it, you can save yourself the money period. I recommend to people, to my friends, if you don't know how to do this and you want to learn, go to OTA.

A* *: U.S. Army Major. ER 001937–38.

- ¶14: My personal IRAs and my futures are what I deal with every day. At the end of 2012, which is before I started with OTA, the market value of my personal IRAs was $109,958. The total amount I put into my IRA from inception was $67,894. As of yesterday, my market value was $806,986. It's a lot better than I would have done on my own without OTA.

- ¶16: After taking my OTA classes, I thought if I could make enough money trading, and I would not have to look for a job. This has worked for me and I only work for myself now!

S* *: Retired Admiral, U.S. Navy. ER 000641–44.

- ¶8: I got and continue to get my money's worth. I won't fall victim to another market crash. In 2008-2009, my investments were being managed by a professional money manager with a classic "buy and hold" value stocks approach. There were no stops set on my positions. Neither they nor I were smart enough to get out of the market when everything was crashing. I saw a 35% drop in my 401k in 2008-2009. In 2018 and 2019 there were three significant market "corrections" that I was able to predict and protect myself from, avoiding large negative swings in my portfolio. I could not have done that without the education I have received from OTA.

- ¶10: I liken the education at OTA to the education that mathematician Edward O. Thorp provided in his classic book on playing blackjack against the house (Beat the Dealer). No one knows what the next card will be, but if you count cards properly, you can know the probability that the next card could help or hurt your hand. Similarly, no one knows if any individual trade will be a winner or a loser, but with the education I am getting from OTA, I can know which trades are more likely to be successful. When I understand and use those probabilities correctly by following my rules, I am a successful trader.

- ¶12: I don't understand why the FTC is attempting to prevent OTA from explaining to us how the markets really work. It boggles my mind. They must be pretending they don't know something they must know: they must be pretending that the economic principles of supply and demand somehow don't pertain to the on-line financial markets, when, of course, supply and demand pertains to ALL economic markets. If they don't then there are several Nobel Prizes in economics which were improperly awarded and must be returned.

M* : Retired Accountant. ER 002018–21.

- ¶17: It's hard to say how my accounts have done over five years. We have money coming in and out. However, I made about 15% last year after taking expenses out of it, with relatively little risk. Just in trading, I'm up about $5,000 for the month of January this year. This is based just on my trading account. That's about an average month for me.

- ¶19: I would equate the knowledge and worth of OTA to a college degree and you can't get an education for $35,000. It's worth a lot. It's hard to put a price on the piece of mind you have when you take charge of your retirement portfolio yourself rather than trust it to someone else.

- ¶21: OTA is like a university. They weren't promising anything. They're just teaching you how to use the market to your advantage and to only take as much risk as you're comfortable with.

S* *: Education administrator. ER 002042–47.

- ¶12: Every few months, I'll jump back into a class to hear what the instructors have to say. The continuous education is magic. It's a Godsend.

- ¶13: OTA is not just about giving you an edge. It's about helping you. It's not just the tools or the system. It's about the expertise.

- ¶18: My current hit ratio is 65%. I target 5:1 and am successful. Today, I don't think account size matters. What really matters is your process. As long as you see positive results in your process, then you win!

- ¶19: OTA is one of the finest educational institutions I've been involved with. It's more than an academy. It's a place to help you learn to trade with competence and confidence. OTA puts you in charge of your future.

J* *: Former EVP Amce Poultry, Real Estate Investor. ER 002174-77.

- ¶11: Unlike a hotel seminar, where once the event is over, you're done, OTA students have a wealth of support at their local brick and mortar center, from their peers, and also from a global network of resources. It's up to each student to access those resources, and the successful students obviously do.

- ¶16: In my primary trading account for 2019, I believe my returns were somewhere between 20 and 25% on an account that started at $860,000 and ended somewhere near $1,050,000. I also have a multimillion- dollar account managed by an outside asset manager. My secondary trading account is used for selling call options on the S&P E-mini futures, which is an income strategy/hedge against the managed account I have. The goal with this strategy is to add another 10 to 12% of return, but if there are some losses in that account, it means my managed account has increased substantially.

- ¶17: Even though I was an experienced trader, I learned so much from my OTA training. The knowledge, information and criteria I gained has made me consistently a much better trader/investor.

- ¶18: I believe I spent around fifty thousand dollars on education with OTA. Not only have I never questioned that price tag, having received much more than I bargained for, I would do it again tomorrow if I had the chance.

Dr. S* : Team Doctor for University of Miami Hurricanes and DEA Citizens Academy. ER 000796–98.

- ¶2: I hold a B.S. from Tulane University, and a doctorate from the Roslind Franklin School of Science and Medicine. I was one of the team doctors for the University of Miami Hurricanes, a company doctor for the Miami City Ballet, and a former past chief of my department at Mount Sinai Medical Center in Miami Beach.

- ¶3: I am also a graduate of the 10th class of the Civilian Academy of the Drug Enforcement Agency, Miami Field Office.

- ¶13: Out of all the education and training that I had personally experienced in college, medical school, residency and my training with the DEA, I found the training and the education at Online Trading Academy to be on equal par with my past experiences, and exceeding them in that the online resources were so extensive, complete and ongoing.

Other Amici have had similar experiences, and each of the Amici is familiar with many other students who have had similar experiences. Amici believe they are getting good value for their money. Amici believe the FTC is abusing its authority in trying to shut down the Academy, and that the district court was misled by the FTC in claiming that OTA is a fraudulent enterprise. Amici believe that the isolated examples, taken out of context by the FTC's lawyers, are not a fair representation of the Academy's practices and philosophy. Amici believe that the FTC and its lawyers have engaged in precisely the type of "unfair or deceptive" practices that Congress has charged them with preventing.

While Amici constitute a substantial portion of OTA's active students, they are each aware of many other students who have had similar experiences. They are also aware that that 448 students have provided sworn declarations, ER 00379 ¶ 8, 00382–931, 001131–1630, 001862–2297, and that over 9000 OTA students have signed a petition, ER 000377–378 ¶¶ 5–7, 000936–1130, protesting the FTC's actions and expressing their satisfaction with OTA's instruction.

Amici and their fellow students believe it is a misuse of taxpayer dollars and an abuse of the FTC's authority to try to shut down a school that its own students—the very people the FTC is purporting to protect—overwhelmingly support and fervently wish to keep in existence.

Amici and their fellow students have made substantial efforts to make their views known by signing the aforementioned declarations and petition—which have repeatedly been brought to the attention of the district judge—but to no avail. The district judge has not only failed to consider the students' views, he has not even acknowledged their existence. The FTC has not merely denied Amici the education they paid for and want to receive, but also usurped their right to speak for themselves. Amici therefore have no choice but let this Honorable Court know that the FTC does not speak for them.

As true friend of the Court, with no stake in the controversy except their own self-interest, with no desire to impose their views of what's fair or deceptive on unwilling subjects, with no hope of personal glory by winning an unfair victory without even having to prove their claims at trial, without the endless taxpayer resources government lawyers can use to rack up career kudos that will secure for them fat-cat jobs at elite law firms, Amici respectfully ask this court to put a swift end to this charade and vacate the preliminary injunction in its entirety. If the FTC lawyers believe they can prove their case at trial—and each of the Amici will offer to testify under oath to the contrary—let them try. But choking the school by curtailing its educational activities and depriving Amici of their education at a time of their greatest need is unconscionable, unconstitutional and un-American.

CONCLUSION

The constitutional violations that lead to the FTC's injunction are well presented by OTA's lawyers. The Student Amici are committed to informing this Court that the FTC's allegations are false, the OTA's education is valuable, and that the district court's interference with OTA and the student's access to OTA's life-long learning programs is causing them irreparable harm. For all of these reasons, the Student Amici respectfully request that the Court vacate the preliminary injunction without delay.

Respectfully submitted this 8th day of May 2020.
